Meet Alex and Esther!

For the first time, we are starting a newsletter with a QR code. Point your camera at the QR, and fall in love with Alex & Esther, two precious kids in Uganda.

If you don't know how to use a QR code (and today is not your day to learn), simply go to ourganda.org, scroll down an inch or two, and click on 'Watch Video'.

RUN THESE QUESTIONS THROUGH YOUR MIND

- What if your child got a fever and you knew she was unlikely to recover?
- What if the only water was two hours away and it was polluted?
- What if you met a woman who had buried her husband and eight children? (We did.)
- What if you learned that life expectancy in our villages is estimated to be in the high 30s?

This is why we are excited about our new video. Our new video invites you to meet Alex and Esther and to journey with them as they begin to experience systemic, sustainable change.

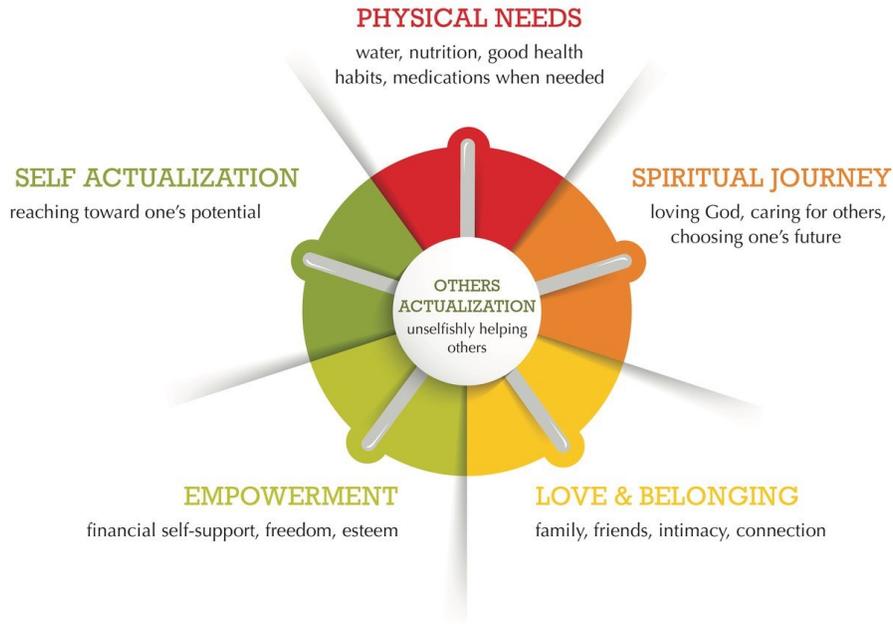

EVERYONE HAS THE RIGHT TO FLOURISH

(especially kids like Alex and Esther)

Here is Ourganda's big question: It is easy to change one person's life, or even a hundred people's lives, but can we transform entire villages? Is it possible to transform misery zones into flourishing zones? The stakes are high. Either conflict, despair, poverty, and unnecessary death continue, or they are significantly reduced.

Ourganda is transforming entire villages. Through education, training, resources, and micro-business opportunities, people and entire villages are changing. We could not possibly be more excited and thankful for what our teams are accomplishing.

By the end of this decade, Ourganda will transform at least 12 misery zones into flourishing zones.

WHAT CAN YOU DO TO HELP?

- Support our medical work, and our 10 full-time medical workers can become 13 or 14 workers, and we will expand into more villages.
- Sponsor an entrepreneur and another family is lifted out of poverty, and for the first time experiences financial self support, freedom and dignity.

If you already give monthly, you are making a significant, ongoing impact. If you don't, please take a moment and set up a recurring donation that will bless a child, a parent, an entire family, or maybe a whole village. No matter who you are, where you live, or what you can give, you can help someone flourish - and you can start right now.
